

FastTrains.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The wait is over. Fast Trains is coming to Spotify.

Fast Trains have announced that their music will be coming to streaming platforms for the very first time, over a 4-month campaign starting in June 2023.

Beginning on Friday 2nd June, one song per week will be released, every Friday, until the entire back catalogue is complete. The first song to be released is 2019 debut single, 'Measure by Measure'.

Prior to this announcement, Fast Trains music has been exclusive to YouTube and Bandcamp, with songwriter/producer Tom Wells treading a different path to the traditional Spotify-focused approach. Over the past few years, this has seen him build a passionate and engaged fanbase via the Fast Trains website and mailing list, with secret shows and merch drops often selling out in rapid time.

The move to the streaming platforms is building towards the Fast Trains debut album, expected in 2024. Alongside Spotify, the music will be released to Apple Music, Amazon Music, Deezer and TIDAL. Wells comments:

"It's been a long journey to get to this point, but now I can't wait to open the gates to ourWorld that little bit further."
